Remember, we all arrived on this beautiful planet as light and love. You too. And we can always return to that place within ourselves if we have lost our way in life, if the darkness has penetrated our castle. We are light and love. Let it shine.

Foreword by
Dr. Paul Luftenegger

Multi award winning singer/songwriter/composer

I wish someone had read Gitte's books to me when I was a little boy because I know if they had, I would have been much more capable and much more equipped to navigate the world and the challenges it holds with more love and light and confidence from my own heart. It took me 34 years to begin to understand what Gitte has gifted you and your child with HEARTLIGHT.

Gitte's work has already changed the world forever in more than 20 countries and let me assure you, she is just getting started!

HEARTLIGHT is truly bursting with radiant love and light! This little powerful gem of a book is a gift to both you and your child, and it will do exactly as its title suggests, teach your child to shine. To shine from deep within their hearts, and to provide them with a tool with which to navigate the world, empowering them from the inside out.

This book will enable you to connect with your child like nothing else can. It will help you create a bond of trust between your heart and your child's heart that only a book like this can do. It will guide you with precision and great care to the delicate space of the heart we each have within us.

As an International (Canadian) multi award-winning singer/songwriter /composer, I write conscious, kind loving music to help the heart and soul feel its worth from within, and I know very well the power words and kindness can have when fused together with divine love from our hearts. I would never put my name to something unless I truly believed it would and could help the heart of the world with love.

In my global worldwide audience I experience the power of divine love from the heart every single day, and its majesty and magical power never ceases to amaze me! This book is filled with pure love and Gitte masterfully takes you into the holy space of the inside world of your child's body with care and kindness – the inner sanctuary of what is often referred to as the temple that houses the sacred heart and soul.

The word “core” came from the French word “coeur” – meaning literally “heart”. I truly believe that the core of our being is in fact the heart and with this type of book your child will thrive with light from the core of their being. I believe that when the heart feels empowered to shine with love and peace and goodness, it is then that the world shifts.

If we want to thrive in our world, moving forward we must all heal our own hearts and true healing begins with us understanding the inner space with peace and power that is self-generated. What I know for sure is that the world heals when we ourselves are healed.

I love you Gitte, with all of my heart. Thank you for asking the little boy in me to be a HEARTLIGHT for your precious, precious book! Thank you for helping to heal the heart of the world with your HEARTLIGHT. You are very special and an important part of uniting the world from the sacred space of the heart.

*All my love, in gratitude and grace,
Dr. Paul Luftenegger*
